

The Legislature at Harrisburg has once more voted to adjourn, this time on the 12th inst. and we guess they'll make it stick; that is, we hope they will.

The trial of James Nutt, for the killing of Duke, begins at Uniontown to-day. The public opinion is that he will be acquitted without much trouble. There are eighty jurors drawn for the term, and it is thought some difficulty will be experienced in getting a panel to try the case.

Congress assembled on Monday and proceeded at once to organize. The House elected John G. Carlisle, of Kentucky, Speaker, and the following other officers: Ex-Congressman Clark, of Missouri, for Clerk; John P. Leedom, of Ohio, for Sergeant-at-Arms; Dr. John S. Lindsey, of Georgetown, for Chaplain; J. G. Wintersmith, of Texas, Doorkeeper, and Lycurgus Dalton, of Indiana, Postmaster. Very few northern men in that gang. The reason of Mr. Carlisle's election is given in the following dispatch which fully explains itself:

Mr. Carlisle and his manager, Mr. Morrison, have announced to every member who visited them that the canvass was made on his part on the issue of revenue reform, and on that alone. Mr. Carlisle said to all that he was in favor of immediate effort to secure a new tariff bill, or at least certain further reduction in the present tariff, and that he would regard his election as an endorsement by the Democratic party of that position. Mr. Morrison has claimed that Mr. Carlisle's views were in accord with those of the great masses of the Democratic party in those sections from which Carlisle drew his support, and it is well understood that Mr. Carlisle will make up his Ways and Means Committee with the view of early tariff action. For this reason Mr. Morrison will be made Chairman of that committee. Mr. Randolph Tucker, of Virginia, Mr. Hewitt and probably Mr. Cox will also go upon it.

The President's Message was received and read. It is a rather lengthy, though very able state paper, and is very favorably commented upon by the press of the country. We shall endeavor to lay it before our readers in the form of a supplement next week.

Sensational Journalism.

It turns out that the talk of Stewart, Lee, Quay & Co. having made a pilgrimage to Washington and all the enterprising stories told of what they went there for are all turning out to be tales made up for the purpose of being contradicted. To the modern enterprise of the impersonal journal the quality of reality in their statements is not so much a matter of importance as their sensationalism. When a lie is telegraphed and published there is such a labyrinth of correspondents, reporters, etc., and so little responsibility resting anywhere for what the paper says; that no sane man would undertake to unravel any story, however doubtful or mischievous, and as nobody cares particularly, whether there is any basis for the vampings of the imaginative youth who can make ten dollars by inventing a rousing occurrence, that nobody cares to take the trouble to inquire into their truth; but rather want to see the sequel, which always comes, and serves as good purpose in contradicting to-day what was asserted yesterday. As it matters little to the general public whether Mr. Quay and his friends go to Washington or not, the general public take no trouble with reference to the matter. But such canards are invaluable (beside the profit the sensation brings to the reliable correspondents) to the feeble-minded editors, whose brain-supply is not equal to the acquisition of sufficient knowledge of affairs to write on topics that would be instructive and interesting to their readers, as supplying them with something to write about that does not draw heavily on their stores of brain power; and to the eager seeker for political preferment, who reads them and discusses with avidity, as pointers to the way to shape their courses, so as to come in on the winning side, just as the greenhorn at a horse race pins his faith to some reported tipster, as an infallible index as to what horse to put his money on in the pools. It is strictly true that neither the greenhorn in politics nor his counterpart in gambling ever hits the right tipster, and their money rarely comes back to them. But they are all such hopeless idiots that no wisdom could turn them to wiser courses so that so far as it concerns them the world need not worry over their fate. The effect the practice has upon journalism, the contempt growing up for the profession, the habit of feeling that no respect is due to it, is a ruinous price to pay for cheap sensationalism and must work mischief.

WONDERFUL REVELATIONS.

THE CIVILIZED WORLD SHOCKED. But Sunbeams of Good Fraternity and Peace a Blessing to all Nations - The American People First to Receive Their Benign Influence.

Two of Esculapius' most distinguished sages, natives of Germany, and life-long teachers of medicine, Drs. Krafftman and Schoniwin, have been devoting their time during the past three years to comparing the effect upon disease, what Drs. Ahn, Professors of the Metaphysical College of Boston, call metaphysical process, with the effect of medicine. Numerous thorough experiments convinced them there was no beneficial effect in medicine except the metaphysical influence, which every physician's presence exerts over the patient, and they found this influence over the disease was greater when administering sugar than when giving the medicines usually prescribed by physicians. They did, however, notice that quinine in malarious fevers, and iodide of potassium in certain specific diseases, exerted an influence over those complaints great in degree than that of sugar. It was suggested that the various patent and proprietary medicines should be examined and compared with sugar, in the same way. This was done and they, too, rapidly shared the same fate as the physician's drugs, excepting those containing quinine and iodide of potassium, which too showed an influence over disease similar to those drugs used by themselves, but less in degree. The list being about exhausted they finally came upon Peruna; their experiments with this article were most striking and in the highest degree exciting. Its effect could in no wise be compared with that of sugar nor with Dr. Ahn's metaphysical process. Its effect was immediate and positive, as was shown in the case of Miss Maggie Martin, of Oil City Pa., who had been a terrible sufferer from dyspepsia, liver complaint and kidney disease, sympathetically affecting all the pelvic functions. The best physicians and every thing else had utterly failed. She was then given Peruna and in due time recovered perfectly. So with I. P. Dukehart, (superintendent of the B. & O. R. R. Co's hotels and now conductor) case. All the best physician's and everything he could do or have done, failed to relieve that terrific and indescribable malarial dullness of the head. One bottle of Peruna cured him and also cured his son of diphtheria. W. S. Jenkins, of Salem O., was an indescribable sufferer from nervous prostration, dyspepsia and constipation, caused by a sunstroke. The physicians thought, since everything else had failed, he might try Peruna. He did so and it perfectly cured him.

But to cap the climax and prove beyond doubt the wonderful efficacy of Peruna, the physician recommended it to Mrs. T. S. Eberline, of 274 Market street, Allegheny City, Pa., now living at Keokuk, Iowa. Mrs. Eberline had been sick for years and finally pushed into consumption. The physician who attended her, were among the very best in city. They did everything the most gifted among them were capable of doing and honorably told her that nothing more could be done, that she could not live over that night. About midnight death began to close the suffering of the good wife and dutiful mother, and as the friends and family were gathered around the bed in tears to witness her passage to eternity; physician suddenly entered and softly whispered, "get Peruna, quickly, hurry!" It was brought, and although the breathing had almost ceased, her lips were livid, finger nails blue, the pulse had ceased at the wrist. Oh! sighed the friends, it is too late, do not trouble her any longer, but she swallowed a little, rallied and expectorated a great mouthful; she breathed easier; she swallowed a little more and again she raised more phlegm; the breath improved; the by-standers took courage and they persevered with the Peruna until she was surely better. The pulse returned, the circulation was re-established, the lips and nails became natural, after which a tablespoonful of the Peruna every hour was administered and she continued to improve. In a few days, she sat up, in two weeks she was the heartiest eater in the house and in three months she was perfectly well. Who is not convinced of the unequal worth of Peruna. For affidavits and signatures of the truthfulness of this statement of Mrs. Eberline's case, see the "Ills of Life," and how to cure them, gratis of any druggists.

The Press

THE FOREMOST REPUBLICAN NEWSPAPER. FOR THE PRESIDENTIAL YEAR, 1884. Weekly Price, - - - $1.00 a Year. Daily Price, - - - $4.00 a Year.

The coming year will be notable, Congress, divided between a Republican Senate and a Democratic House, will be busy Presidential-making. The great battle of Protection against Free Trade will agitate the Capitol and the country. The Presidential campaign will be the hardest fought and most exciting political struggle for a quarter of a century. Europe, in the opinion of the best informed, trembles on the eve of a great war.

With such an outlook a live newspaper which prints all the news and tells the whole truth about it is more than ever a necessity. Such a newspaper is THE PHILADELPHIA PRESS. Telegraph wires in its own office place it in instantaneous communication with a corps of over five hundred news gatherers distributed all over the civilized world. The special daily cable service which it shares with the New York Herald covers every phase of activity in European life. No paper excels it in all the elements which go to make up a broad, full, complete journal.

Besides being a complete newspaper, THE WEEKLY PRESS has several special features which put it at the top. The ANTI-CORRUPTION DEPARTMENT, enriched by constant contributions from the foremost writers in various branches, gives the practical things that people want to know on the farm and in the garden. THE HELPING HAND FOR WOMEN or Home Department, edited by Mrs. Kate Upson Clark, is full of information, hints and happy thoughts for every wife, mother and head of a household.

A great feature of the coming year will be the highly valuable letters of Joseph D. Wiggins on Wages of Working-men, the general conditions of Labor and the Cost of Living in Europe as compared with America. Mr. Wiggins, who had charge of this subject for the Census of 1882, has made it a study, and has been abroad this year conducting a special investigation. His letters will give the facts as to earnings in all the various industries, the purchasing power of wages, strikes, trades-unions, arbitration, &c.

The WEEKLY PRESS is full of choice home reading, with puzzles and other matter for the ladies, folk, stories and pastimes for adults and children, fashion notes, recipes, gleanings from current literature, a careful summary of domestic and foreign news, and an exact discussion of the great questions of the day. Sample copies mailed free.

NEW TERMS OF THE PRESS:

By mail, postage free in the U. S. and Canada. Daily, except Sunday, 5c a month; $1.00 a year. Daily, including Sunday, 10c a month; $1.00 a year. Sunday Press, $2.00 a year. Weekly Press, - - - $1.00 a Year. (Prices, change on 1st of Dec. unless otherwise stated.)
